I've stopped the paper, yes I have,
I didn't like to do it
But the editor he got too smart,
And I allow he'll rue it.
I am a man who pays his debts,
And will not be insulted,
So when the editor gets smart
I want to be consulted.
I took the paper 'leven years
And helped him all I could sir,
But when it comes to dunnin' me
I didn't think he would, sir.
But that he did, and you can bet
It made me hot as thunder;
I says, "I'll stop that sheet, I will,
If the doggone thing goes under."
I hunted up the editor
And fer his curbin' caper
I paid him 'LEVEN years and quit!
Yes, sir, I stopped the paper.

The Fallacy Of Eternal Youth

A quarter century has passed since Brown-Sequard launched a goat's lymph theory of everlasting life. So it is with those who have moistened their lips by a new sensation, after the inconveniences and pains and aches of age set in; they look about for a "Fountain of Youth," or becoming reconciled to the inevitable, seek by fair or foul means some sort of intercourse with the nether world.

There are topics beyond human understanding, and many theories must be taken upon faith. We cannot explain why and how we entered upon the units of this world we live in, and we cannot explain where and how we are leaving it, save by faith, and the belief in the teachings of those best qualified to advance satisfactory dogmas. Have any of these comprehended fatuousness space? Our five senses carry to the brain a few mathematical facts of scientific research, yet we continue to seek, until we must eventually round up at a standstill. In a limited world, there is a limited investigation. The lower animals live their lives, guided by instinct. Man only recently is beginning to know what the birds have known of the air since time immemorial. The study of air rivers, air eddies, calms, storms, electric, etc., is being worked out by aviators. Why not employ more instinct and less scientific investigation, where the seeming impossible is to be surmounted? The conscience of man is an instinct. The conscience rules the higher ego, the appetites the baser ego. Those who have studied conscience, believe that the simplest life we can lead proves the happiest, which goes to show that pseudo ambition is harmful. Napoleon died young, but observe the denizen of a Sahara. In his life-long quiet way of getting close to nature is he not sure of his threescore and ten?

It is plausible to prolong the life of a cell by bathing it in life-giving pabulum, or by supplying a new cell element at its molecular death. It is possible to preserve a building, by substituting a brick, a stone, a door, or a window for the disintegrated unit, but what an exhausting, troublesome method, when the old structure can so easily be demolished in its entirety, and a new and beautiful one reared in its place. Man's life is continued by his progeny, until it is ordained that man can no longer inhabit this sphere of the universe. With each geological era, a new creature held sway, and then quietly passed into oblivion. Therefore, there is no logic in assuming that the creature man has arrived to stay. —J. A. Guthrie, Scientific American.

WELCOME, LITTLE STRANGER

London.—Unofficial reports repeat previous claims of a great Russian victory. Petrograd has not officially stamped them true. Berlin, in its latest report, simply says fighting in Poland has assumed the proportions of a continuous battle. It gives no geographical position of this fighting and may refer to the operations westward from Warsaw or to those in the vicinity of Czenstochowa and still farther south along the Galician frontier. In this latter district and in Galicia, according to latest reports of the Russian commander-in-chief, the Muscovite forces have had numerous successes. Captures of men and munitions are recorded on the Czenstochowa-Cracow line, along the Sreniawa river in Poland; in Galicia on the Raba and Vistula rivers and before the town of Bochnia, which was stormed.

Berlin's latest official report announced victories in western Galicia and progress in the Carpathians for the Russian allies.

A period of inactivity obtains along the entrenched lines in Belgium and France. Only here and there has there been fighting and this merely was cannonades and a few light infantry combats.

Heavy fighting is in progress in northwestern Serbia, but snow is hampering operations. The Montenegrins claim to have defeated the Austrians with great losses near Vrhograd on the Drina river.

Napoleonic Strategy Repeated
London.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says that when full details of the Russian victory in Poland are available they will furnish a story that will astonish the world—a story telling of a blow to Germany's finest troops such as had not been dealt since the days of Napoleon.

The correspondent also makes an interesting disclosure concerning a success he says the Russian Baltic fleet, under command of Admiral Von Essen, achieved early in September. His dispatch, in substance, is as follows:

"It appears that German warships had acquired the habit of cruising in the Baltic up to the limit which the Russian fleet had decided to hold. Admiral Von Essen painted several of his cruiser and destroyers with the German colors and, under cover of foggy weather, joined the German warships. The presence of the Russian warships was not suspected.

"The admiral opened fire, sinking one German cruiser and badly damaging another, while the Russian destroyers put in good work on the smaller German craft. Having delivered this blow, the Russian vessels sailed home untouched.

"The Germans naturally remained silent regarding this fight and for various reasons the Russians also kept silent, but a number of the coveted St. George crosses were distributed among those who were responsible for the success of this venture."

British Steamer Sunk
Havre.—The British steamer Melchite has been sunk by a German submarine near Cape La Heve, which is about three miles from Havre. The Melchite, a steamer of about two thousand tons, belonging to the Cunard company, was bound from Liverpool to Havre. She was stopped by the submarine and the crew was given ten minutes to get into the boats. After this was done the submarine sank the Melchite and then closed her own hatches and dove down beneath the sea.

British Lose Another Ship

Sheerness, England.—The British battleship Bulwark was destroyed by an explosion as she lay off here. There are only fourteen survivors from the crew of 700 or 800 men who were aboard.

Internal Explosion

In the opinion of naval men, it was an internal explosion that put an end to the battleship, which for twelve years has done service at home and abroad and lately had been guarding England's shores. There was no great upheaval of water, such as would have occurred if she had been torpedoed or struck by a mine. Instead, the ship was enveloped in smoke and flame, and when this had cleared nothing could be seen but wreckage on the water.

If the ship's seven and eight miles away were shaken by the explosion, the crew were men on ships anchored nearby could reach their own decks, the Bulwark had disappeared. The sea was strewn with the wreckage, while pieces of the ship were blown six or seven miles on to the Essex shore.

Considering the size of her navy, Great Britain has been singularly free from disasters of this character. Nevertheless, when the French warship Jena was destroyed by an internal explosion in 1907, all cordite ammunition was taken from all the British ships and carefully examined. Refrigerators were installed in the ships to keep the powder cool.

The Bulwark, which was one of the older battleships, cost one million pounds sterling ($5,000,000).

Would Exclude Belligerents
Washington.—The United States government has been asked by the principal South American nations to cooperate with them in negotiations with European belligerents to bring about the exclusion of all belligerent warships from the waters of the two Americas and safeguard the trade of Pan-American countries with each other.

Bryan Considers Plan

Washington.—The United States government is not ready, according to an announcement by Secretary Bryan, to express an opinion on the request of South American nations for co-operation by Washington in negotiations with European belligerents looking to the exclusion of their warships from the waters of this hemisphere.

Mr. Bryan said, however, he would take the subject up with President Wilson when he returned to the capital. The Peruvian minister communicated to Mr. Bryan in detail his government's proposal for the establishment of a neutral zone in the Atlantic and in the Pacific. It would extend the territorial waters of neutral countries from the present limit of three miles to a designated meridian within which merchantmen of all nations would be free from molestation.

Chile Will Investigate

Santiago, Chile.—An official statement issued by the maritime authorities says it has been proved that German warships have violated Chilean neutrality by staying for several days in the Juan Fernandez islands, capturing two neutral ships, seizing coal and provisions and sinking the French bark Valentine, a half mile off the Chilean coast. The Chilean training ship General Baquedano has been sent to the islands to investigate the charges that the Germans have established a base of operations there.

RUSSIANS CLAIM MANY VICTORIES

Display Napoleonic Strategy in Campaign Against Both Germans And Austrians

NAVAL BATTLE IN BALTIC

Montenegrins Claim Victories Over Austrians—Fighting in Northern Serbia

The Russians are claiming many victories over both the Germans and Austrians and declare that when the veil is lifted from the scene of the present campaign, the world will hear the details of the most telling blow to Germany's finest troops that has been inflicted since Napoleon's day.

Austrian officials in Vienna admit that the Slav troops now occupy Czernewitz, capital of the province of Bukovina. A big naval battle is now going on in the Baltic between the Teutonic and Slav cruisers, the details of which are promised later.

Severe fighting is reported going on in northwestern Serbia and the Montenegrins are claiming decisive victories over the Austrians.

The Roumanian parliament has convened at Bucharest and will possibly make some territorial concessions to Bulgaria regarding the boundary dispute which arose after the second Balkan war last year.

Such action, it is believed by the allies, will bring Bulgaria into line against the Austro-German entente, and provide a relief to the Serbians and a further annoyance to Turkey.

The United States government has taken under consideration the appeal of the South American republics to exclude battleships of the warring nations from Pan-American waters. Secretary of State Bryan has told the Latin American diplomats that he will take up the matter with President Wilson.

The president called an important conference of ambassadors of the belligerent European nations at the white house where he addressed them expressing his strong disapproval of the methods of aerial bomb throwing on unfortified cities in which might be living residents of neutral countries.

The campaign on the Franco-Belgian frontier, commonly regarded as the main battlefield of the war, has assumed a new phase. Everything is quiet and only the slightest skirmishes are being reported. Germany has seemingly relinquished the offensive. The Kaiser has made a flying trip to Kiel.

Decisive victories for the Russian army over the German forces in the latter's attacks on the Polish border and attempts to reach Warsaw, together with the explosion of the British warship, Bulwark, off the English coast, mark the leading developments of the week in the European war.

Reputed at every turn, the Germans were forced to abandon their project to capture the Polish capital, and in turn were compelled to hastily retreat in order to guard the roads to Danzig and Berlin, which are again imperiled.

The explosion of the Bulwark, just outside the harbor at Sheerness, England, which had been doing patrol duty along the North sea coast, adds another fatality experienced by Great Britain's navy since the war began. This is one of the keenest losses the English have sustained. Although in service for a decade and a half, the Bulwark was one of the chief boats of the navy, costing 1,000,000 pounds sterling, or $5,000,000. Over eight hundred men went down with the ill-fated warship.

Another development in the war, which makes it more of an international problem than ever, is the appeal of the South American republics to the United States government to help exclude warships of the belligerent nations from Pan-American waters, which they contend has interrupted their commerce with the United States.

German activities in South American waters in the last week have been reported in complaints from the Chilean government. Chile states she will preserve her neutrality at the cost of war. At once Peru and Colombia have both taken steps to safeguard their respective coast lines.

Roumanian Parliament Meets

Bucharest.—The Roumanian parliament has convened and the future course of action of this kingdom probably will be decided. It is said Roumania is prepared to cede to Bulgaria some of the territory which she obtained after the second Balkan war at the expense of her neighbor. This may mean that Bulgaria is about to take her stand with the allies and in return be permitted to straighten out her boundaries and take more of the country now inhabited by her nationals.

MOSQUITOES THRIVE ON SALT

Simply Waste of Time and Money to Use That Method for Extermination of the Pest.

Mosquitoes are fond of salt, and it is a waste of time and money to try to drive them away by putting salt in the pools and rain barrels where they breed. Such is the conclusion of Prof. E. Halford Ross of the Lister Institute of Preventive Medicine, London. The plan, he says, was given an extensive trial at Port Said, where the anti-mosquito campaign was started in 1904. There are large salt distilleries at Port Said, and the crude sea salt regularly was thrown into the water where the domestic mosquitoes were breeding. It was soon found that certain kinds of mosquito larvae can thrive well in such salt water.

For example, "stegomyia calopus," the carrier of yellow fever, and "anopheles pharousis," which is a carrier of malaria, breed undisturbed in water containing salt up to and including a salt content equal to that of the summer Mediterranean. As soon as this percentage of salt was reached, a new mosquito appeared, namely "anartemisia salinaria," which is an inhabitant of the salt pans and salt marshes of Malta, the bitter pools of the isthmus of Suez and the Mediterranean shores. This mosquito is particularly venomous.

Professor Ross adds that crude or refined petroleum or resin or tar oil are the only things to put into mosquito pools.

EFFEL TOWER ON STAMPS.

The French postal authorities are considering the issue of a series of stamps with a new design. Instead of Roty's familiar "tower," the new stamps will have a picture of the Eiffel tower with an aeroplane flying over it. The reason for this change is that the stamp is very easily copied by forgers. The proposed new design is meeting with much criticism. It is said that if the government must supersede Roty's graceful figure it might be something more pleasing than the Eiffel tower.

French Retake Dixmude

London.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Dunkirk telegraphs that Dixmude has been retaken by the allies. He says: "The French marines attacked the town strongly this week and have driven the Germans out of three lines of advanced trenches. The next day they followed this up by entering the town in an irresistible charge. The enemy did not halt in their retreat until they were seven miles out of the town. The marines lost 300 men."

French Zouaves At Work

Paris.—The French Zouaves, who frequently have distinguished themselves by dashing charges, have been utilized again to dislodge the Germans from a position near Bixschote, over which there has been much fighting, and, according to the French statement, they again have been successful. These incidents merely are examples of what has been occurring in northern France. First one side adds then the other gains an advantage, but, when all is told, the general situation remains about as it was.

When the Flea Flew.

It is probable that the ancestors of the fleas were winged insects, and that the organs of flight were gradually lost as they became useless, when a partially parasitic life was adopted.

Hiawasse does not seem to be altogether a dead issue yet. We see new houses going up and old ones in a state of repair; we also hear of different people wanting to move among us, the school is the most promising; it has been for some time; and, last of all, we understand there is to be a drug store in town in the near future, Jim Hooper being the owner and proprietor.

J. Sneed,

DIED.

Bonnie Hullander, the second daughter of Mrs. J. O. Sampson, died at her home at Track Rock early Saturday morning. For several months she had been fighting the relentless enemy, tuberculosis, and for four weeks had been confined to her bed. The fight, however, proved too much for her frail yet dauntless spirit. All that loving hearts could do was done, but in vain, and just as the break of dawn was heralding the advent of a new day she fell asleep.

A beautiful girl of sixteen summers, a sweet, gentle character, she was deeply loved and many are sorrowing in her passing. A host of friends join the News in extending sympathy to the bereaved mother, sister, and other relatives.

The funeral and interment was at Union cemetery Monday morning and was largely attended. Rev. T. C. Hughes, of Blairsville, conducted the services.

GEORGIA, TOWNS COUNTY.

To the Superior Court of said county: The petition of W. L. Peel, J. N. McEachern, H. F. Branham and J. A. Sharp respectfully shows:

1 That W. L. Peel, J. N. McEachern, H. F. Branham and J. A. Sharp are members of the TRUSTEES OF THE YOUNG L. G. HARRIS COLLEGE.

As such Trustees, they file this petition to revive the charter heretofore granted by this honorable court to Young L. G. Harris and others, incorporating the TRUSTEES OF THE YOUNG L. G. HARRIS COLLEGE.

2 Petitioners show that on the petition of Young L. G. Harris and others, this honorable court granted an order incorporating them as the TRUSTEES OF THE YOUNG HARRIS INSTITUTE such order of incorporation being granted at the March term, 1888, of this court, such corporation being thereby granted the powers and privileges and subjected to the burdens imposed, as fully shown in the petition for incorporation and the order of court granting the same, as the same appear on the records and minutes of the court.

3 Petitioners show further that at the March term, 1891, said charter was amended by changing the name of the corporation to TRUSTEES OF THE YOUNG L. G. HARRIS COLLEGE, and by giving the corporation certain additional rights and privileges, all as more fully shown in the petition for amendment and the order of this honorable court allowing same, as duly appears on the records and minutes of the court.

4 Petitioners further show that under the original petition for incorporation, the life of the corporation was limited to a period of twenty years; that such period expired in March, 1908.

Now, therefore, this petition is brought to revive the charter of said corporation, under the provisions of Section 2325 of the Code of Georgia of 1910.

Wherefore, petitioners pray that the charter of the corporation known as the TRUSTEES OF THE YOUNG L. G. HARRIS COLLEGE be revived, and that the corporation so revived be invested with all the rights, powers, privileges and property of the old corporation, and subject to all the burdens resting thereon, and be invested with all the rights, powers and privileges appertaining by law to corporation of like character. Held in trust, that said premises shall be used, kept, maintained, disposed of, as a place of divine worship for the use of the ministry and membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; subject to the discipline, usage, and ministerial appointments of said church, as from time to time authorized and declared by the General Conference of said church, and by the Annual Conference within whose bounds the said premises are situated. And that an order of this honorable court be granted accordingly, after due and legal advertisement of this petition once a week for four weeks prior to the grant of said order, in the nearest public gazette to the place where the Young L. G. Harris College is located, same being the place of business of said corporation. And your petitioners will ever pray.

W. L. Peel, J. N. McEachern, H. F. Branham, J. A. Sharp, et al.

Prehistoric Skeletons.

Three skeletons apparently of prehistoric folk, one of whom must have stood about ten feet high were unearthed by laborers digging foundations for cottages at Dysart county, Louth, Ireland. The skull of the skeleton was entire, and measured eighteen inches from the crown to the chin, and the leg bones and teeth were abnormally large. The skeletons were in separate graves.

COLLEGE NEWS.

(By Prof. T. J. Lance)

Young Harris men who belong to the North Georgia Conference are located for 1915 at the following places: Atlanta District, Decatur and Orphans Home, Frank Quillan and J. M. Hawkins; St. James and Asbury, W. E. Brown junior preacher; W. M. Twiggs and Roscoe David, students in Theological Department of Emory University. Athens District, Green Circuit, V. A. Roark; Princeton Mission, M. A. Franklin and W. A. Woodruff; Rutledge, Grover Knowles; Augusta District, W. T. Hamby, (Presiding Elder); Asbury, G. W. Barrett; Hancock, W. B. Mills; Grovetown, Arthur Maness; Harlem, L. M. Twiggs; Thomason Circuit, B. F. Mize; Dalton District, Lafayette, Thomas M. Elliott; Resacca, Nelson Hinsley; Ringgold, D. P. Johnson; Stilesboro, W. S. Norton; Summerville, H. L. Hendricke; Trion, J. J. M. Mize; Elberton District, Comer, T. H. Maxwell; Gainesville District, Buford, Felton Williams; Cleveland, Wills M. Jones; Hoschton, Z. V. Hawks; Monroe Circuit, Homer Thompson; Lagrange District, West Point Circuit, W. J. Culpepper; Marietta District, Alpharetta, R. T. Harrison; Austell, J. B. Gresham; Cumming, G. W. Hamilton; Tate, Neal A. White; Oxford District, Covington, John G. Logan; East Putman, J. L. Hall; West Putman, C. F. Hughes; Rome District, Carrollton, Circuit, W. O. McMullen; Cedartown, J. P. Erwin; Waco, J. Max Cook. There are thirty-seven men in this list and there are doubtless others whom I do not know who have received their training at Young Harris. Ought not the North Georgia Conference to rally to Young Harris? The pastor of the First Church in Atlanta receives more money as salary than the combined Collegiate Faculty at Young Harris. The Methodists are acquainted with our needs. Emory and Wesleyan and the New University are on their feet. The Methodists of Georgia are not poor. But a large number of them are very much interested in maintaining our secondary schools on secondary equipment and expect primary results.

Thanksgiving was highly enjoyed. The rules were suspended at three o'clock in the afternoon. The "Deestrick Skule" was presented by the Faculty aided by Miss Edna May Stephens, Mrs. S. E. Hamrick and Mr. Alva Maxwell. There was a full house, several coming from Hiwassee, Hayesville and Blairsville. Those present, old enough to remember the "Deestrick Skule" as it actually was, said that the attempt to portray it was highly successful. Mrs. Sharp, the teacher, was dressed in hoopskirt and gave evidence of the fact that she understood the old time methods, not only of dressing but using the rod as well. The costumes of the school were as nearly as could be a replica of the old time school. The program consisted of A. B. C. class, Reader, Geography, Grammar, Spelling and Friday afternoon speaking. The Committee who visited the Friday afternoon exercises were: Mr. Otto Waldroup, Mrs. Vina Wood, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Woodruff. The collection amounted to $19.69.

The Faculty is considering staging one of Shakespeare's or Euripides' tragedies sometime during the spring term.

The twenty-seventh anniversary of the Young Harris Debating Society was observed Saturday evening. The Orchestra furnished excellent music. Miss Bonnie Alexander played an instrumental duet. The Orator of the occasion was Ben F. Mize, a graduate of the class of '10. He was introduced by Prof. Sharp, who referred to him while a student as the "English Buster" but there was noted considerable improvement as his language was very elegant. His subject was the "Dignity of Service." His friends were glad to hear him. Mr. J. W. O. McKibben presided and L. B. Jones made the declaration.

The hard rain prevented Sunday school again Sunday morning.

The Susan B. Society will give their annual play Saturday evening the 12.

Mr. Bell visited his sister and brother at the College Thanksgiving.

The Hayesville Faculty were welcome visitors at our classes Friday and Saturday. Come again.

The farmers through this section have been doing the right thing in buying fruit trees to set their farms. Fruit can not be raised like it once could here. Fruit trees that are not sprayed will not bear perfect fruit. If you will notice almost every apple is imperfect, one-sided, or has a decayed place in it, which is caused by a small worm boring into the fruit or tree. This can be remedied by spraying the trees a few times a year.
